AAC News- April 2012

Featured App: Choiceworks

Choiceworks is a great new app that helps children with special needs regulate their behavior, follow their daily routine, make choices, and understand how to control their feelings and impulses. It has three key boards: schedules, waiting, and feelings. There are professionally recorded voices that accompany the 165 included images, however the app allows for endless customization because personal photos from the iPad can be included and sounds can be recorded from the iPad itself. At 14.99$ it is on the pricier side of education apps, but it is a valuable learning tool that we think is worth it!

Free app of the month- Put it away!

Put It Away is a great new "game" app that helps children learn where things go in the house (and "secretly" helps them learn categories of items in a fun way!) The best part about this free app is that it allows the user to create new scenes with user uploaded pictures and items so you can upload pictures of your own house and help the kids learn to clean up!

Save the Date- ACC iPad workshop- April 23rd at 6pm

Thinking about using an iPad as a communication tool in the near future?
Bought one but don't know which apps to purchase?

CLASS, Inc. will be hosting a seminar with our very own AAC specialist, David Pozolinski. The seminar will cover the top ten communication apps available, the most durable cases to protect your iPad, AAC evaluations and why they matter, and of course plenty of time for Q&A!

The cost of the workshop is $30, but if you bring a friend it's only $20 dollars per person! The workshop will be held at CLASS, Inc.- 1705 S 324th pl. Federal Way, WA 98003.
